CONSTITUTION OF THE IRISH SENIOR CITIZENS PARLIAMENT

VOICE OF OLDER PEOPLE

Introduction and Background

It is estimated that there are currently some 500,000 Senior Citizens in this Country and that a significant proportion of them are members or otherwise associated with the 200 or more organisations established primarily to respond to or otherwise service particular aspects of their interests and needs. Yet this large sector of Irish Society does not have any effective means of promoting its views with a single voice to Government or other appropriate agencies that may be in a position to respond positively to its concerns and to address in a national context key issues which affect the well-being of those who comprise the sector.

The role which a Parliament could play in providing this single voice has long been recognised by many of the existing organisations and it was again highlighted during the first Irish Senior Citizens Parliament Meeting which was held in the Dublin Institute of Technology, Bolton Street, Dublin in November, 1994 and attended by some 350 delegates, drawn from over 50 different organisations.

At a follow up meeting to the first Senior Citizens Parliament a broadly based Working Group was established to prepare a draft Constitution for such a Parliament and the fruits of this Working Group's deliberations is the document that follows:

Preamble

The more formal establishment of the Irish Senior Citizens Parliament is the obvious way to make progress towards providing an effective unified voice for the Senior Citizens of this country.

However, if such a body is to speak with authority on behalf of Irish Senior Citizens, it must enjoy the confidence and support of as many of them as possible as confirmed either through the organisations to which they belong or by some other form of affiliation. Special attention has to be given to ensuring that the Parliament communicates effectively and is responsive to the views and concerns of its membership in all parts of the country and hence it must also have an appropriate Regional structure.

It is appropriate to stress that the Parliament shall not have any role in regulating, controlling or otherwise becoming involved in the affairs of its associated organisations, unless requested to do so, as they carry out their own work and make representations in relation to matters which they consider are of importance to them or their members. Rather the aim will be to promote better co-operation and understanding, exchange information and to develop a spirit of mutual support among all those who share common goals in enhancing the lives of Irish Senior Citizens, now and in the years ahead.

CONSTITUTION OF THE IRISH SENIOR CITIZENS PARLIAMENT VOICE OF OLDER PEOPLE

1. Name

The name of the organisation shall be the Irish Senior Citizens Parliament (known in short as ISCP). It shall be a non-party-political, non-sectarian and non-profit making autonomous organisation concerned with promoting the interests of retired and older people. The Parliament values the diversity of approach represented in its affiliated organisations (as well as its other members) with each of them retaining their own independence. The constituent members undertake to give ISCP their support and co-operation in the achievement of its objectives.

2. Objectives of the ISCP

The objectives of the ISCP shall be to provide Irish Senior Citizens with a unified voice in relation to:

- (a) Representing and Protecting their interests in relation to general policy matters which may impact on such areas as; ageism, social welfare, pensions, housing, health services, transport, security, taxation, leisure, social inclusion and general well-being.
- (b) Working with existing organisations to improve the services available for Senior Citizens (including representing their interests in specific areas) through better overall Co-ordination of the efforts of those who are involved or concerned.
- (c) Promoting better and closer Co-operation between different existing Senior Citizens Organisations in areas where they share common interests or goals and also improving channels of communication between them.

- (d) Supporting the implementation of the European Senior Citizens Charter, the Charter of Rights for the Elderly and similar initiatives.

3. Functions of the ISCP

- (a) To identify important issues that are of concern to, impact on, or otherwise affect the interests of Irish Senior Citizens.
- (b) To articulate and bring these issues and concerns to the attention of Government, other agencies and bodies, and the general public as considered appropriate.
- (c) To conduct research and investigations into various issues and problems in accordance with ISCP's objectives with a view to having it and its members better informed.
- (d) To communicate in an effective manner with its member organisations (or individual members) so as to keep them fully informed about its work and activities.

4. Membership

4.1 Categories of Membership

ISCP shall encompass the following categories of membership:

- (a) Members - open to organisations which are fully supportive of the objectives and functions of the ISCP and wish to become affiliated to it.
- (b) Associate Members - open to organisations which in general are supportive of the objectives and functions of ISCP but for various reasons may be reluctant to become organisational members at this stage.
- (c) Individual Members - open to individuals at the discretion of the ISCP Executive who are generally supportive of the objectives and functions of ISCP.

Membership may be subject to payment of a fee in accordance with Article 12.

4.2 Voting Rights

Voting Rights, will be available to Category (a) Members only. Each affiliated organisation in this category will be entitled to nominate three delegates to the ISCP. At the discretion of the Chairperson, the exercise of voting rights by individual delegates on behalf of their nominating Category (a) Members may be conditional on the payment of the appropriate membership fees by the Category (a) Member on whose behalf the delegate is proposing to vote.

4.3 Autonomy of ISCP Members

ISCP accepts as a fundamental principle that each affiliated organisation shall retain full autonomy to function in accordance with its own constitution or articles and memorandum of association etc. The main requirement expected of all categories of ISCP members is that they are fully committed to supporting its objectives and functions and to advancing the interests of Senior Citizens in the most effective manner possible, thereby creating a better society that is sympathetic to their interests and concerns.

5. Organisational Structure of ISCP

5.1 The ISCP National Organisational Structure will have three main elements as follows:

- (a) the Annual Parliament Meeting (APM) - which will be the body responsible for policy making and overseeing the work of ISCP.
- (b) The APM shall elect a President, Vice-President, Hon. Secretary, and fifteen other members, who will together comprise the ISCP Executive Committee (hereinafter referred to as “the Executive Committee”). The APM will also elect three Trustees (one of whom will be nominated by the APM as the Treasurer). The President, the Vice President, the Hon. Secretary and the Trustees shall collectively be described as the “Officers”.

- (c) Elected Officers / (members of the Executive Committee) will hold office for a period of one year unless they resign within that period. Vacancies to the Executive Committee will be filled by co-option at the discretion of the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee in filling a vacancy and exercising their discretion shall have regard (non-binding) to the candidate who received the highest number of votes before elimination.
- (d) The Executive Committee members shall be nominated as members of the Irish Senior Citizens Parliament (a registered company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital) (hereinafter called “the Company”). The Officers shall be nominated as Directors of the Company. The statutory Company Secretary of The Company shall ex officio be the Chief Executive Officer (the “CEO”) of the Executive Committee.
- (e) The Executive Committee shall hold meetings at venues throughout the Country to which members of affiliated organisations will be invited to attend. The purpose of these meetings will be to receive reports on the implementation of the decisions made at the APM, providing the Executive Committee with advice and direction, and assisting in two-way communication with and between ISCP members. These meetings may also assist in the preparation of the Parliament’s Budget or other submissions to Government.

The Executive Committee shall also hold at least two meetings per year to which at least two representatives of the Divisions of the Parliament shall be entitled to attend. The purpose of these meetings will be to assist the Executive Committee to implement the Work Programme of the Parliament at both local and national level. Each Division shall also be entitled to place an item on the Agenda of these meetings for discussion.

- (f) The Executive Committee shall be responsible for implementing the decisions made at the Annual Parliament Meeting and taking any other such actions that it considers appropriate to furthering the ISCP objectives and functions, as well as managing its own day to day business. It shall normally meet on a monthly basis.

- (g) The President or, if unavailable, the Vice-President shall preside at meetings of the Parliament and Executive Committee. In the absence of the President and Vice-President, the Executive Committee shall appoint from its members a Chairperson to preside at the meeting.
- (h) Except where otherwise provided in this Constitution, all decisions at the meetings of the Executive Committee shall be taken by a simple majority of those present and voting. In the event of a tie, the presiding Chairperson shall have a second or casting vote.
- (i) Special consideration will be given to gender balance in appointing the, Executive Committee and ISCP Committees.

5.2 Sub-Structure of ISCP below that at National Level

The ISCP will have a sub-structure based on local areas which will be called Divisions of the Parliament and shall be entitled to nominate three delegates to the Annual Parliament Meeting and place 2 Motions on the Agenda. Such Divisions shall be established as either “Area Divisions”, “Regional Divisions” or “Local Divisions” (collectively “the Divisions”) with the consent of the Executive and shall report to and be responsible to the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee (in consultation with interested members) shall define the eligible membership of each Division. The role and functions of the Divisions will be as follows:

- (a) To represent the Local Interests of Senior Citizens.
- (b) To make representations to the HSE, Local Authorities, Statutory and other Local Based Organisations on matters which affect the Quality of Life of Older People, including Social Welfare, Housing, Health.
- (c) To communicate with the Organisations which make up the Division, so as to keep them fully informed about its work and activities.
- (d) To bring to the attention of ISCP issues which require representation at National Level.

- (e) To assist the interests of the Parliament by lobbying TDs and other Local Politicians on the implementation of Parliament Policies.
- (f) To provide an Information Service to the Local Media on behalf of the Parliament.
- (g) To co-operate with other Local Organisations in advancing the interests of Senior Citizens.
- (h) To make reports on its activities to the ISCP from time to time as may be determined by the Executive Committee.
- (i) And any other functions which may be assigned by the Executive Committee.

Divisions of the Parliament shall elect a Chairperson and Secretary from its Committee which shall be representative of local groups in the area which are affiliated to the Parliament.

5.3 Regional Divisions of the Parliament may be established for areas of large centres of population which are fairly well defined. The establishment of a Regional Division shall be considered after application has been made by local Divisions of the Parliament. Regions shall elect their own Chairperson, Secretary and eight other members to its Committee. In general the range of regional activities shall mirror those at national level but may be more focused on regional issues.

5.4 The Divisions shall be required to furnish an Annual Report (including financial) to the Executive Committee.

5.5 Sub-Committees

ISCP may establish Sub-Committees to further its objectives with membership drawn from those working actively in, or with expertise in particular fields. These may include the following:

- (i) Pensions and Taxation
- (ii) Housing
- (iii) Health Services
- (iv) Security
- (v) Leisure
- (vi) Social Needs
